Covid 19

Let me start by saying how this awful event started. We believe that it started in a china wet market. Which then spread around the world.

We in the UK are not scared BUT when it comes to us we can conquer this virus.

Luckily our scientists advised Mr Johnson to put us all in lockdown so the virus would not spread and put too much stress on the NHS we are so very grateful to have! STOP wash your hands for 20 seconds to stop the spread the virus ware marks.

Now the whole of Britain is in lock down like in WW2 we stand united to fight together and win this war against Covid 19.

So now we are stuck in our homes as I am speaking to you be strong and stay home if you can and protect the NHS!

Whilst the NHS are working on a cure, I am being Home schooled it sounds fun but is not fun.

To help us feel good we stand together in front of our homes we cheer and clap the NHS every Thursday because in the end they will save our lives.

We need to help people who cannot help themselves.

We need to keep up the face times and communications going.

Keep washing your hands you could try singing happy birthday 2-3 times as some people say it gives you good luck.

Not everyone is going to make it through, but we need to keep our heads held high and have a positive way forward to how this situation will play out.

We entered a time of crisis where schools were shut down we were trapped in our homes lots of people died and lots of us have not but we stand together all as one at the end of the day were going to save our souls.

Wonderful learning...

Attack of the Super-Strong Aphids

Across the UK crops are being eaten by an invasion of a new breed of super strong aphids. The government don't know what to do. Hundreds of scientists have tried to think of a way to kill them.

In his laboratory Fred Pool was mixing insects DNA to create a Super Mini Beast to eradicate them. So far none had worked. This was his last try. His last mini beasts were a red soldier beetle and a mesh web weaver spider. If he managed to make this work he would create a flying spider that can shoot its web out as it flies. This will cover the crops in sticky traps. Now he is mixing it to see if it works. Then he will leave it overnight to see what it does. The next morning Fred goes back to his laboratory and...

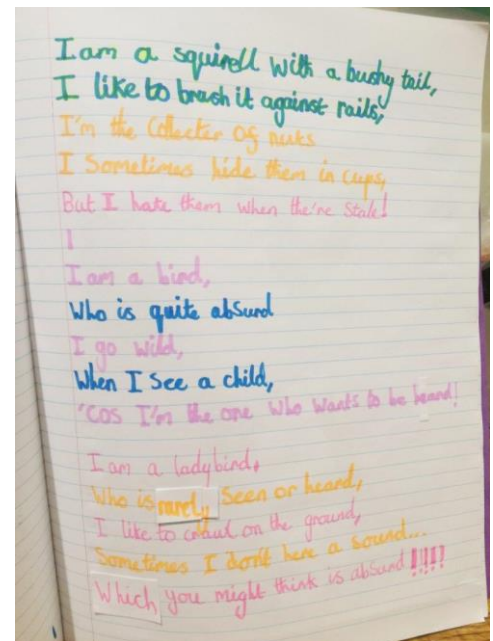

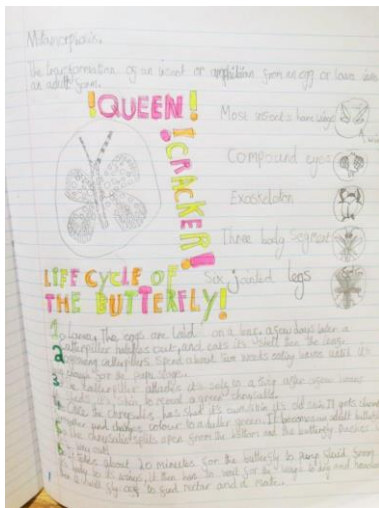

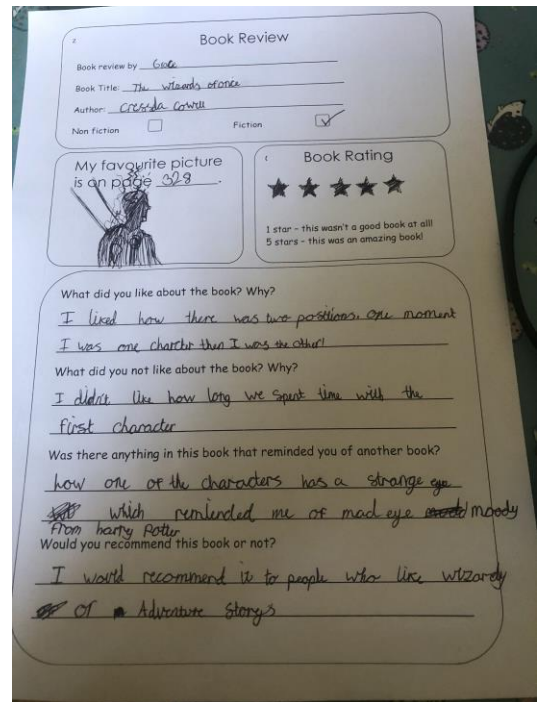

Thousands of mini eggs were taking over the room! This is what happened: glass shattered, lights broken and everything was a mess. All that Fred had to do now is wait for them to hatch.

One day later...

The eggs were finally hatched, now Fred has thousands of mini red soldier web weaver beetles. Fred takes a few mini beetles to a field and sets them free. The mini beetles start flying around and squirting the crops with their super sticky web. The aphids are getting stuck in the really sticky strong webs. "It's working!" shouted Fred as loud as his voice could go. So he goes back to his laboratory and asks his scientists friends to help him take the mini beetles around the country.

A week later the country swarming with red soldier web weaver beetles swooping down and devouring all the aphids. The farmers are super happy and all the crops are growing well. Fred pool has saved the country and the world's most famous scientist.

The end

Time for fun...

Keep safe and well everyone!

Taylor had to try and get really far on a virtual train, using ten of them! It was extremely hard, but her and Paige both got to the same place! Pakistan! Mum got to Jordan, so they beat her 😊.
